Making Salad Dressing Between Courses.

The pretty fashion of making the salad dressing on the table obtains among fashionable people at small informal dinners. Before the preceding course has been removed the servant brings the hostess a shallow silver bowl, into which are broken the yolks of two eggs. Before her are also placed the oil decanter, two tiny silver pepper boxes holding white and cayenne pepper, a small mustard pot with the unmixed mordant, and a bit of lemon on a plate or a second miniature decanter of tarragon vinegar, as the taste of the hostess prefers.

Then, while the plates are being changed, the mayonnaise is concocted. Into the unbeaten yolks are carefully measured first a saltspoon of salt and another of dry mustard, a good pinch of cayenne and a better one of white pepper, then with a silver fork the stirring process begins. Drop by drop the amber oil does its work till, thick, golden and velvety, the mayonnaise is ready for the touch of acid from lemon or vinegar, and afterward to be sent around the table as the salad is served. It is a graceful office for deft fingers.—Her Point of View in New York Times.

James Russell Lowell's Birthday.

If I had been asked a few weeks ago to name the two most interesting men in America, I should have answered without hesitation, "Mr. Lowell and Gen. Sherman"—or "Gen. Sherman and Mr. Lowell," for the order of the names would have mattered little. The general's strong yet childlike nature, his varied and well remembered experience, his extensive reading, and his readiness and skill in expressing himself on a thousand topics, made him a fascinating talker, whether he were addressing two or twenty people.

On the other hand, Mr. Lowell's poetic imagination and keen yet kindly wit, his intimate acquaintance with the best thoughts of the best minds of all time, his familiarity with the history of the past and his personal connection with the historic happenings of his own day combine to make him one of the half dozen living men whom it were best worth while to know. Like Gen. Sherman and George Washington, Mr. Lowell was a February child, and was 73 years old on Washington's birthday. Gen. Sherman reached his seventy-first birthday on Feb. 8, and died on the 14th.—Critic

A Large Price for a Flower.

I saw a new variety of plant for parlor decoration in a florist's window the other day, the price being marked at the modest figure of $100. In the passion for this sort of display, which is now rampant here in Boston, I am told that the money expended is out of all proportion to the intrinsic value or beauty of the product, some rare specimens being sought for in preference to one in which the attractions of form and color are conspicuous. This sort of interest recalls the Dutch tulip mania, and though there is perhaps no danger that our Yankee flower fanciers will lose their heads, as the old Hollanders did, yet it is worth remembering that the latter were hard headed, matter of fact people, and it is such, by the way, who are apt to be most unsettled by a gust of excitement.—Boston Post.

Lack of Men Who Dance.

The complaint is made that the dancing men in society are scarcely beyond the age of knickerbockers, and a call has gone out for more men of years, weight and discretion who are willing to make themselves generally useful at the small dances of society. There has never been a year in the history of New York when balls occurred in private houses so frequently as this season. Two or three dances a night have been the rule. As a majority of the men in society are also in business, it is difficult to see how they can be expected to sit up until 4 o'clock in the morning every night in the week and still go to their offices at the accustomed time. Apparently there is another long felt want in society which the conditions of New York life make it impossible for men to fulfill.—New York World.

GREAT MEN DIFFER.

The President, who is notaverse to injecting partisan opinions in his addresses to mixed audiences in his swing around the circle, dwells upon the advantages of reciprocity between the United States and foreign nations, while Major McKinley in a speech at Cincinnati, Ohio, tells his hearers that his tariff bill is the panacea for financial and agricultural depression. Secretary Blaine conceived the reciprocity idea for which the President now claims the credit, and Edmunds and Morrill of Vermont would have killed the McKinley bill if its framer had not incorporated a clause in the measure to pay two cents per pound bounty for maple sugar. The Senate Finance Committee is not willing to accept Major McKinley's word that great benefits will result from his bill, and has held a meeting to determine the best method of ascertaining how it works.

These various opinions show that great men hold diverse opinions on the reciprocity and tariff questions. Reciprocity, which Secretary Blaine advocates and which the President tells the people is a good thing for the country, is defined as "equal, mutual rights or benefits to be yielded or enjoyed." As construed by Mr. Blaine it means that if Canada, Cuba and the South American Republics will admit American products free of duty the United States will reciprocate by admitting their products on the same terms. This, as far as it goes, is absolute free trade, and if extended to all nations would abolish custom houses and compel the Government to resort to other methods of acquiring revenue to meet its obligations. It differs from the McKinley bill much more than the McKinley bill does from the Mills bill and is a long stretch in the direction of absolute free trade. The Mills and McKinley bill both recognize the necessity of a tariff and differ only as to the commodities to be taxed and the rate of taxation, while reciprocity means the free exchange with certain countries of articles which both require, but which one can produce cheaper than the other. Mr. Blaine would admit the sugar of Cuba, coffee of Brazil, the hides and, perhaps, the wool of the Argentine Confederation free if these countries will reciprocate by admitting flour, pork and other products of the United States on like terms, while Major McKinley admits sugar, coffee and hides free without any concessions from the countries which produce them.

Each of these statesmen has a large following, and though their ideas of the tariff question differ materially, they are kept in one party by the cohesiveness of office.

CLEVELAND ON SILVER.

State Treasurer Stevens, of Missouri, visited New York this week and had a conversation with ex-President Cleveland on the silver question. The Telegram gives what purports to have been said on the occasion, which indicates that Cleveland had modified his views regarding silver. Now Stevens says the report of the interview published in the papers was not written by him and that it was inaccurate in many particulars. It contained much that was said by Cleveland but more that he did not say. Cleveland did not announce himself as a candidate as reported in the interview, and when asked what he would do if he was President and a free coinage bill was presented to him for approval, he laughed and turned the question by saying it was a long time until 1894.

As Treasurer Stevens does not particularize the misstatements in the interview it is of course valueless so far as it relates to Cleveland's attitude toward silver, and leaves the impression that he is as much opposed to free coinage as Harrison and Reed's House of Representatives.

WANTED.

A California paper publishes the following under the head of "Wanted."

"Eighty Assemblymen and twenty Senators in Sacramento in 1893. Farmers and workmen preferred. No lawyers, hoodlums or professional politicians need apply. Address the people on or before November, 1892."

Nevada might advertise similarly but when the time comes the "bosses" will as usual furnish the material.

The Census Bureau has published a Bulletin giving statistics of mortgages in Iowa and Alabama. In Alabama the mortgages on real estate amount to $30,027,983, and in Iowa on the same security to $190,031,956 74. This indicates very plainly unless Iowa is an exception to the other agricultural States, that the farmers of the West are mortgaged to the manufacturers of the East.

Governor Pattison of Pennsylvania will not allow the National Guard ordered to Scotland to keep the peace, to assist in evicting the men who struck for higher wages, and about five hundred Pinkerton men have been taken there by rail to aid the owners of the coke works in getting the strikers out of the shanties which belong to the coke company.

Every telegraph pole in the remote country districts of Norway, has to be continually watched on account of the bears, which have a mania for climbing the poles and sitting on the crossbeams, swaying backward and forward until the pole finally falls.

News of Importance From Home and Abroad.

The President in Southern California. Special to the Journal.

RIVERSIDE, Cal., April 23.—The Presidential party arrived at Riverside this afternoon, after a delightful trip from San Diego. Short stops were made at Ocean-side, Santa Ana, Orange and at South Riverside. The President received a cordial welcome at each of these places and expressed his thanks in brief speeches, complimentary to the people and their country. The crowd at each of these places was swelled by school children, who presented the ladies of the party with flowers.

At Santa Ana a reception took place in the floral pavilion, surmounted with a fine specimen of the American eagle. Postmaster General Wamamaker made a speech there. The President left the train at South Riverside for a few minutes and was photographed standing on a low platform with his left hand resting against a tall column of block tin, mined and manufactured in the immediate vicinity. He congratulated the people on the development of this important industry. The party was received at Riverside with great enthusiasm.

They left the train at Arlington, a station about six miles distant, and drove to the town in flower-bedecked carriages, through a continuous lane of orange groves and the celebrated Magnolia avenue. On reaching the high school they were received by a large crowd, including hundreds of school children with waving flags. The horses attached to the carriage containing Secretary Rusk and Mrs. Dimmick, took fright at this point and caused intense excitement by plunging into a crowd of children. Fortunately they were scoured before anyone was hurt. Several of the children were frightened into hysterics.

A formal reception took place at the Glenwood Hotel, where the President was introduced by Governor Markham and made a short address. He was then escorted through the principal streets by a procession composed of local militia and civic organizations to the station where the special train was in waiting.

PASADENA, April 23.—The President's speech at Riverside was very brief. He said:

"My friends we can tarry but a moment as we are already behind railroad time for leaving. I cannot, however, leave this large assembly of friends without expressing the delight with which we have looked upon Riverside Valley. You are a favored people and ought to be, as I have no doubt you are, a law abiding, liberty-loving, patriotic people." [Cheers.]

The President had a warm reception at San Bernardino, the next place visited, and addressed the people in a short speech.

The beautiful city of Pasadena was illuminated to-night in honor of the Presidential party. They arrived here at 7:30 o'clock and were welcomed by Mayor Luken and a committee of citizens, amid the firing of cannon, ringing of bells and cheers of the populace. The approach of the train was marked by huge bonfires on each side of the track. The reception committee was assisted by the local militia and civic organizations.

The President and party were escorted to the Hotel Green, where the President held a short public reception. The party was afterwards entertained at a banquet at the hotel which was attended by all the leading citizens of this and adjacent cities. Postmaster W. W. Masters presided and toasts were responded to by the President, Secretary Rusk, Postmaster General Wamamaker, Governor Markham, ex-Governor Sheldon, of Montana, General McCook, of the United States army and others.

Clarkson's Views—What He Says of the Presidential Situation. Special to the Journal.

Boston, April 23.—The Herald has a long interview with President elect Clarkson of the Republican league. Clarkson says in part: "I have no choice for President. Time will indicate the man. If the silver question is settled, the situation will be greatly cleared. The sentiment of Republican power, the West, will never consent to any candidate or platform that will not represent the double standard idea. With such a position on money and a position for revision of the banking laws, with the purpose to provide good money and enough of it, the Republican party will hold the West as solid for the party as it was in 1888, while the McKinley bill will carry New York and the doubtful States. President Harrison has made a faithful executive in every public sense, and is lacking only in personal popularity. His pure intellectual ability is not second to any American living to-day, not even to his phenomenal Secretary of State.

Clarkson said he believed Cleveland would be the next Democratic candidate. If his personal views on the silver question do not quite suit the South and West, he will make them suit. The gold people will trust him anyway, and as the Western and Southern Democracy believe in him as a man of destiny, he can successfully hypnotize them on the silver question, and I think he is doing it."

A Sudden Death.

RIVERSIDE, Cal., April 23.—Lewis Munson, editor of the Banning Herald, died here to-day of hemorrhage. He was at Arlington to assist in receiving the President when he was suddenly taken with hemorrhage and died almost instantly.

ROME TERRIFIED.

Terrible Damage Done by the Explosion of a Powder Magazine. Special to the Journal.

Rome, April 23.—About 7 o'clock this morning a tremendous explosion shook the city to its foundations, spreading terror and dismay on all sides. People rushed affrighted from their homes into the streets, houses were reeked, pictures fell from walls, thousands of panes of glass were broken, crockery was shattered, furniture overturned, chimneys crashed down upon roofs and in some instances toppled over into the streets below. The Customs House and House of Parliament immediately after the explosion shook violently and then collapsed with a crash which added still further to the feeling of terror.

The scenes in the streets and in the houses after the fearful explosion have possibly never before been equaled during the history of modern Rome. All the thoroughfares were strewn with bricks, stones, splinters and other debris, buried there by the force of the powerful concussion. In houses doors, windows and cupboards were burst open, and rents and cracks appeared in walls. Plaster fell from ceilings and general desolation prevailed. In many instances people were thrown from their beds by the shock, and cries of terror filled the air as thousands of families rushed out into the streets. Parents with their children in their arms, children leading aged parents and young people helping their elders all made for the streets as if their only chance of safety depended upon their being able to reach the open air.

LATER.—The official report made in the Chamber of Deputies this afternoon says seven persons were killed and forty-eight injured at the scene of the explosion, and about two hundred persons in the city slightly hurt. There were 265 tons of powder in the magazine. The explosion was purely accidental, and the rumors that it was of Anarchist origin are without foundation.

An Important Governor.

Special to the Journal.

PORTLAND, Or., April 23.—Governor Penneyer, when asked to-day whether he would go to the State line to receive President Harrison, is reported to have said: "Mr. Harrison represents in his official capacity the official power and dignity of the Federal Government. I as Governor of Oregon represent the State of Oregon in the same way. We are equal. I have no business to go to pay homage to him. On the contrary when he visits Oregon he should rather pay his respects to me as its official executive."

The Wheat Market.

Special to the Journal.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23.—Brigadier General Thomas H. Ruger, the newly appointed commander of the division of the Pacific, arrived to-day from the North accompanied by several members of his staff and assumed command.

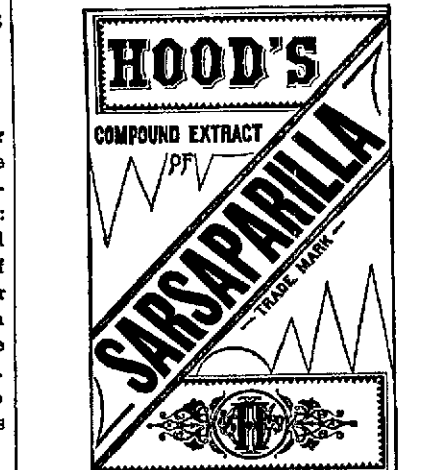

The wheat market to-day while strong and active was nearer its normal condition than for some days past. But little profit was made by either the bears or bulls in the late transactions. Buyer the year closed to day at 79 1/2, buyer season at 78.

SHENANDOAH.

Special to the Journal.

"From Winchester Twenty Miles Away."

Brown Howard's latest and best play, "Shenandoah," will receive its initial production at McKissick's Opera House here Saturday, April 25th, and great interest has been manifested in the event. It comes direct from its second great run in New York, and it will be given with the exact original New York cast or home company, and with the same elaborate manner in regard to scenic effects, auxiliaries and stage realism that characterized its great success everywhere produced. The opening scene of the play is laid in a ball-room in Charleston, West Virginia, where the principal characters are assembled. Col. Robert Ellingham, a Virginian, and Col. Kerchival West, a New Yorker, both friends at West Point, each vows love for the sister of the other. These vows are made to Gertrude Ellingham, the Southern girl, and to Madeline West, the Northern girl, with all the faith of true love. The first firing on Fort Sumpter was heard in the distance and the lovers hastily separate. In the second act is a beautiful stage setting, representing Three Top Mountain and the Shenandoah Valley. Gertrude Ellingham is captured while delivering Confederate dispatches and falls into the hands of Col. West, her lover, who renews his suit, but is not entertained with pleasure by the Southern girl, who considers him an enemy to the Southern cause, and therefore an enemy to herself. In this scene is worked in some very bright comedy in relation to the trying circumstances of the lovers. There were realistic torch signalings from the mountains that were given in exact accordance with the secret code. The third act shows a retreat of Sheridan's men from

The importance of purifying the blood cannot be overestimated, for without pure blood you cannot enjoy good health. At this season nearly every one needs a good medicine to purify, vitalize, and enrich the blood, and we ask you to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. It strengthens and builds up the system, creates an appetite, and tones the digestion, while it eradicates disease. The peculiar combination, proportion, and preparation of the vegetable remedies used give to Hood's Sarsaparilla peculiar curative powers. No other medicine has such a record of wonderful cures. If you have made up your mind to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to take any other instead. It is a Sarsaparilla medicine, and is worthy your confidence. Hood's Sarsaparilla is sold by all druggists. Prepared by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass. 100 Doses One Dollar

BREVITIES

G. W. Mapes left yesterday for Lovelocks.

Geo. Jamison of State Line was in town yesterday.

Judge Boardman returned from California yesterday.

W. O. H. Martin has gone to San Francisco on business.

Silver bullion 1,000 fine is 96 cents per ounce in New York.

A. C. Hamilton, the mining superintendent, left for San Francisco last night.

Hon. George W. Baker of Baker & Wines returned from San Francisco yesterday.

Hon. Francis G. Newlands arrived from the East night before last and went West last evening.

D. O. Mills arrived yesterday from California and left on the Virginia & Truckee train for Carson.

The road from Truckee to Lake Tahoe will be open for travel by May 10th, so says the Republican.

Amity Lodge No. 8, K. of P. will hold its regular convention this evening after which there will be work in the Uniform Rank.

Captain Reid, Internal Revenue Collector, arrived from Carson last night, and will be at the Sheriff's office to-day to attend to business.

The Truckee Republican says the material has arrived for an iron bridge across the Truckee river at Camp 24, to be erected by the railroad company in place of the present wooden structure.

The Times-Review says a wood chopper in the employ of Ed Hardesty in the Jack Creek Mountains completely severed two of the toes of his right foot and cut the others so that they are only held by shreds with a blow of an axe.

Ernest Hollingsworth and Joseph Black, two of Reno's best young men, left last night for Los Angeles, where they expect to locate. The boys have the best wishes of many friends who regret to see them leave, and wish them all the success they are entitled to.

The Elko Independent says: Joe Honen returned Tuesday from New York, where he sold a carload of horses at fair prices. He says his horses would have brought better prices had they not been branded. The eastern people do not like a brand on an animal.

The Oshesene Live Stock Journal says R. S. Van Tassel sold nineteen three and four-year-old hay-feed steers, averaging 1924 pounds, at $4 50 per hundred. This is equal to $59 58 a head, which is a very good figure for steers, and more than the average price for range horses.

The Elko Independent says: A big Shoshone trial commences at Wells on the 1st of May, when an Indian will be tried on a charge of having committed a murder eight or nine years ago. The delay in the trial was caused by not knowing the whereabouts of the murderer.

Sawdust is now used for mixing with mortar in place of hair. A most effective combination is two parts of sawdust, two parts of lime, five of sand and one of cement. This may enable the Truckee people to find more profitable use for sawdust than dumping it in the river.

Internal Revenue Collector Reid is officially informed that all special taxes heretofore required from dealers in and manufacturers of tobacco and cigars are repealed on and after May 1st, 1891. The fiscal year has been changed from May 1st to July 1st, and all persons liable who have paid special tax for the period ending April 30, 1891, can have their stamps extended for May and June, 1891, by the payment of one-sixth of the rate for the year.

An eastern paper says: "The wives of this country do not know that their husbands, with scarcely an exception, carry pictures of a good-looking Philadelphia school teacher in their pockets. Such is the case. Since July, 1878, every silver dollar coined by the United States Mint has borne the imprint of the classic features of Miss Anna L. Williams, who sat for the designer of the coin."

Poncho, a Piute Indian who piloted General Fremont across the Sierra Nevada, died at the Pyramid Reservation recently. Poncho was a Mexican War Veteran, and wore a bronze medal furnished by the Government with his name inscribed on the same on State occasions. He served under General Fremont in California in 1846-7, and when peace was declared between the two Republics returned to his native haunts in the sagebrush.

Sarah Burnhardt, the queen of tragedy, passed here last evening at 9:35 in a special train on her way to San Francisco where she is to appear at the Grand Opera House to-night. The train consisted of her special car "Coronet," a Pullman sleeper, a coach and four baggage cars. Cleopatra left the train at the water tank and walked with two lady companions to the depot. Sam Davis, who went east to Lovelocks as special correspondent of the Examiner to interview the lady, went west on the train.

At the annual meeting of the Wadsworth Library Association the following officers were elected: G. H. Hunt, President; James Agler, Vice President; D. Horan, Secretary and Librarian; T. F. Moran, Treasurer; W. F. Hunt, A. T. Clippenger and J. O. Schwartz, Directors. The library of the Association, which is maintained by employees of the Southern Pacific Company, is one of the best in the State.

The use of cocaine for deadening pain in dentistry is being condemned on every hand. Its use results in a species of paralysis of the nerves and it is positively dangerous. A niece of Lydia Thompson, who was recently operated on by a Detroit dentist, who used cocaine, is said to have all the muscles of her face paralyzed, and although the cocaine was used over three months ago the most skillful physicians have not as yet been able to relieve her from its results.

The Appeal says five Piute Indians are employed by Uncle Sam as policemen at the Walker Lake Reservation. The jail is a log cabin, in the center of which is a wooden cell large enough to hold two persons. It seldom has an occupant, and the crimes are generally drunkenness or fighting. The Chief of Police acts as Judge, and appoints two other policemen as attorneys, one for the court and one for the prisoners. If found guilty the culprit is sentenced to jail from one to twenty-four hours, according to the crime.

The A. O. U. W., a benevolent society, of which there are two lodges in Reno, up to March 1st last, levied assessments in 1891 in the jurisdictions named as follows: California, 6; Indiana, Oregon, Texas, Nevada and individuals under the immediate jurisdiction of the Supreme Lodge, 5 each; Pennsylvania, Ohio, Kentucky, New York, Illinois, Wisconsin, Tennessee, Georgia, Ontario, Canada, and Colorado, 4 each; Missouri, Michigan, Kansas, Massachusetts, Maryland and the Dakotas, 3 each; and Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska and Montana, 2 each.

IMPROVEMENTS IN RENO.

Buildings in Course of Erection.

Though times are dull, not only in Nevada, but throughout the country, people have confidence in Reno and new buildings are being erected, and additions made to those already constructed. A JOURNAL reporter, in looking through town for evidences of prosperity, noticed the following improvements:

On Sierra Street Thomas Tomasmichael has about completed a two-story brick addition to the William Tell House, and T. K. Hymers has added a two-story brick addition to his already large livery stable. W. Sanders is also erecting a large and elegant two-story residence on this street near the M. E. Church.

In Hayden & Shoemaker's Addition, G. E. Holesworth has just moved into a handsome cottage erected this Spring. Several other small dwelling houses are in course of erection in this Addition.

In Lake's Addition, C. A. Wood and Calvin Conn are erecting dwelling houses on State street.

In Powning's addition J. M. Bristol and Frank Robb are building handsome residences near the river and J. E. Shannon is building a brick dwelling house, and in the upper end of the addition Walter Hastings and J. Wood are completing two cottages.

On Fourth street R. S. Osburn is building a handsome cottage and General Borton is completing one of the largest and handsomest residence in Reno, a regular mansion in fact. Dr. Hutchinson is also building a handsome brick cottage on Fourth street.

B. N. Curtis is building a two-story addition to his residence on Ralston street, and A. B. Williams is building a fine residence with barn and other out-buildings in Connor's addition, and last but by no means of the least importance, the engine house has been materially enlarged.

In addition to these it is stated that Senator Foley will build a palatial residence this summer, as will, also, D. McKissick and doubtless several others.

NYE COUNTY GOLD MINES.

Good Prospects and a New District Organized.

The Belmont Courier says E. A. Shattuck writes as follows from Montgomery, the new mining district in the southern part of Nye county, of which so much has been said recently:

"We have organized and have everything in nice running order under the name of Montgomery District. There are about 75 men on the ground and more coming every day. We have the finest prospects for a boom I have ever witnessed, the beauty of the thing being in the richness of our fine gold deposits, and the extent of ledges."

The Feast of the Passover.

The festival of the Passover, celebrated in commemoration of the Israelites remaining intact on the night of the destruction of the first-born in Egypt, immediately preceding the Exodus, an account of which is given in the 12th chapter of Exodus, commenced at sunset last evening. Originally it was observed by sacrificing pass-over lambs, as well as by excluding all leaven from meals for seven days. The sacrifice of the lambs ceased with the destruction of the temple at Jerusalem, but the other observances remain in force. It is a season of fasting with Orthodox Hebrews. It is the oldest festival of which there is any record.

Notice.

All persons having business with me are requested to call at the Sheriff's office to-day (Friday), April 24th.

A Serious Accident.

E. H. Langley, the well known traveling man long identified with the San Francisco Cracker Company and now engaged with the firm of George H. Tay & Co. of San Francisco, met with a serious accident on his present trip to this locality. He started for Glenbrook on horseback last Monday and yesterday morning mounted his horse to return. The grade being steep the cinch band of the saddle kept slipping back on the animal's withers. While in the act of dismounting to rearrange it the horse gave a sudden spring, throwing Mr. Langley over his head and fracturing his right arm. Fortunately in springing the animal fell on his fore knee, enabling its retention by the rein. Though so severely disabled, Mr. Langley managed to rearrange the saddle and remount and make a five hours painful ride into Carson, where his arm was set by Dr. Guion, who found that he had sustained a compound fracture of the large bone of the right arm between the elbow and the wrist, the latter being also badly dislocated. Mr. Langley arrived on last evening's V. & T. train and departed for San Francisco.

Dining with Discrimination.
If one desires to dine with physiological discrimination the meal should begin with a few uncooked oysters or clams, which are immediately stimulating, nutritious and digestible; both oysters and sea fish contain a tonic quantity of iodine, and are good nerve foods. With the exception of cayenne, the earlier dishes should be mildly seasoned; the entrees may become piquant gradually; the ice or Roman punch refreshes the tissues of the mouth and throat, which have been heated by the food and somewhat inflamed or, rather, stimulated; the liquid coolness counteracts those feverish conditions, and prepares the palate for the flavor of the roast or broiled game.
The accompanying salad greatly enhances the intense flavor of the roast, while the condiments and salad oil favor digestion. The dessert sweets tend to regulate the combination of the nutritive elements in the blood, exercising a chemical action not yet thoroughly understood. Black coffee or tea without milk has an astringent effect, that is, it contracts the mucous membrane of the digestive organs, interfering with the flow of the gastric and intestinal fluids, and thus retarding digestion.
When their effect is desirable, the warmth and stimulus derived from either of those beverages can be replaced by drinking a glass of hot milk and water, swallowed as hot as possible, in large sips, and there is no handicap, as with tea or coffee. The milk soothes the sensitive digestive tract, which may be disturbed by other foods, and the hot water is sanative; the milk taken without the water would become a solid food directly it encountered the gastric juice, thus lacking the necessary liquid quantity. —Juliet Corson in Harper's Bazar.
Decline of Literary Receptions.
The past winter has practically settled one thing in New York—that the literary reception has had its day. Two years ago "evenings" were held by all the well known literary people, but the practice was abused, and the following year saw the beginning of the end. This past season but a few literary "at homes" have been given, and these lacked their former interest—so much so that next winter will see still a smaller number. One cause of the unpopularity into which the literary reception in New York has fallen was its shameful abuse. A literary woman would begin her season with a small coterie of her select friends, and so long as those same congenial spirits came together all went delightfully well. But one friend brought another, and after two or three weeks he would in turn bring a third, until at the close of the season the hostess would find her rooms overrun with a lot of minor literary lights whom she scarcely knew, and the spell was broken. Then the deaths of Miss Booth, Oliver Bell Bunce, and the removal of Marion Harland made a difference, and so for more than one reason the practice has died out. Perhaps the change will be for the better, since privileged friends will be more certain of agreeable companionship upon special evenings when the hostess signifies her intention to be at home for these, and these alone. —Edward W. Bok's Letter.

SUMMONS.
IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE STATE of Nevada, in and for Washoe county. The State of Nevada vs. Mary O. Carroll, et al. You are hereby required to appear in an action commenced against you as defendant, by Wm. H. Carroll as plaintiff, in the District Court of the State of Nevada, in and for the county of Washoe, and answer the complaint therein within ten days after the service on you of this summons (exclusive of day of service), if served in said county, or twenty days if served out of said county, but within said District, and in all other cases forty days, or judgment by default will be taken against you according to the prayer of said complaint. The action is brought to recover a judgment and decree of divorce, forever dissolving the bonds of matrimony now existing between you, the said Mary O. Carroll, and the said William H. Carroll, and declaring that there is no community property to be adjudicated and that the property of which he is now owner is his own separate property. The said action is brought on the ground of desertion of him on your part for a period of more than one year last past prior to the commencement of this action. All of which will be more fully set forth in the complaint which is on file in the office of the Clerk of said Court, in Reno, in said county, and to which you are especially referred. And you are further notified that if you fail to appear and answer said complaint, the said plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief demanded. In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand at Reno, this 23rd day of March, A. D. 1891.

Attorney for Plaintiff.
